A. (UNCLAS//) GENERAL ASSESSMENT:

The fighting during this period has diminished significantly. The UPA forces overwhelmed the ROP loyalist forces and are in the process of conducting mop up operations. The guerilla forces are also increasing their level of activity against the UPA, People's Republic of Pineland (PRP) loyalist forces, and the emerging 3rd Internal Security Corps (ISC).

//UNCLASSIFIED// (INTSUM 25 W+015 to W+021)

The ISC continues slow implementation of a number of population and resource control (PRC) measures. In addition to the elements implemented last week, the PRP is slowly adding a number of checkpoints and roadblocks at key intersections. The internal security forces in the PRP are assisting the implementation by re-training existing law enforcement officials.

Several militant factions aligned with the minority movements have joined the new PRP government's ISC and are attending training at several law enforcement academies. Ex fighters from both Celtic Union Insurgent Army (CUIA) and AWENASA [means "My Home" in Cherokee; believed to be a Transnational Criminal Organization (TCO)], have joined the PRP with the belief that the new regime will support their demands. The 3rd ISC is growing and quickly extending an effective grasp over many citizens. The concept of the Urban Internal Security Guards (UISG) is still maturing, and no significant actions were carried out during this period.

The conditions in the former NPP continue to spiral out of control for the Conservative Party (CP) and the governing ROP interests. Liberal Progressive Party (LPP) advocates and associated entities continue to secure their grasp on critical government institutions throughout the PRP. In cases of specific shortages of expertise, the LPP has resorted to temporary replacements from the UPA. ROP government officials in Columbia, who traditionally relied on support from the landed and wealthy class, are now facing the reality of a changed dynamic. The landscape in the PRP now includes a minority base that is introducing a number of new cultural, religious, and ethnic interests into the political arena. This landscape is foreign to the traditional CP and the Protestant People's Party (PPP) governance methodology and paradigms. The ineffective ROP government, over a long period of time and crucial economic problems that marginalized specific ethnic and social classes, has paved the way for social upheaval in this crucial Province, a region in Atlantica that is emerging as a historical boundary and front lines for a cultural war.

On (W+020) the Paton regime, in conjunction with UPA media experts, is conducting a concerted information operations (IO) campaign to improve their standing among the populous. The themes are centered on injustices of the former ROP government and a complete makeover of the former ROP institutions. These transmissions occur locally and also are being broadcast to an international audience in Latin America, the Far East, and the Middle East. Since the PRP is home to several Muslim, Latin, and Asian expatriate communities, the PRP is hoping to engage beyond those who reside mostly in the Coastal Territory. Other themes are highlighting how a far right group, God's Right Arm (GRA), has infiltrated the ROP government. The media campaign is exposing how "GRA" has unleashed hit squads in the former NPP, and now GRA will employ its terror on the PRP. The second portion of the media campaign is directed at delegitimizing the ROP resistance and its dismal performance. In a very unprecedented measure, the PRP even displayed several dead and captured guerrillas. To highlight the positive side, PRP media and broadcast facilities are emphasizing the PRC measures which are emplace to protect the PRP citizens against lawless forces supporting GRA terrorist activities.

On (W+020), negotiators on both sides of the conflict met to discuss a pathway for a ceasefire and procedures to establish a ten mile militarized zone along the north-south Pineland border. This week a number of refugees from the most affected areas in the former NPP began relocating to the Republic of Appalachia (ROA) and areas of the SPP.

Open Source Intelligence (OSINT): IIR 25-1327-76-9950 WCNC Charlotte News, Weather Traffic, Charlotte, PRP "Militants abduct LPP County Official" (W+020)

AP Charlotte, PRP – The Gaston County Commissioner was abducted by unknown assailants this morning as he departed his residence. His vehicle was abandoned and a note inside the vehicle pointed towards the GRA. The 3rd ISC has commenced an investigation and suspects that GRA militants are trying to eradicate outspoken members of the LPP.

OSINT: IIR 25-8927-76-03050 WLOS ABC 13, Asheville, PRP "College students march in opposition to the LPP and in support of the ROP." (W+021)

Asheville, PRP – Three thousand students demonstrated today on Market and Justin Streets to show their opposition to the LPP takeover of a sovereign state. The students, organized by the Old Irish English Protestant Heritage Group (OIEPHEG), demonstrated angrily and caused a number of traffic issues, but no injuries were reported. The ISC and Elements of the UPA 10th Mountain Division provided security and prevented the protesters from marching on the town hall.

(SIGACT ROP-S034-ASH-W+019), Reported by ROP Military HQ, Columbia, SPP, 2034 hours. A squad from the UPA 10th Mountain Task Force was attacked by the 430th guerrilla band. The guerilla band initiated the ambush with an improvised explosive device (IED) as the squad returned from a routine mountain patrol. The IED was initiated by remote control, possibly via a hand-held radio or cell phone. 0 X killed in action (KIA), 3 X wounded in action (WIA).

2) (U) PIEDMONT

The ROP Loyalist Underground East Conservative Party (RLUECP) confirmed through a posting on their Internet media wing that the ROP government contacted International Red Cross officials to arrange the return of ROP soldiers and civilians who were killed, wounded, and captured during the secession. The transfer is scheduled for (W+021). The International Red Cross provided a list of United States (US) Citizens missing since the day of the secession. LPP government officials have agreed to return the citizens on (W+021), along with the ROP KIA, WIA, and captured. Among the missing US citizens are three State Department employees that were last seen in Fayetteville on (W+005), at the Holiday Inn Hotel on exit 53 near International Highway 95: Mr. William C. Sarkesian, deputy director of the US Agency for International Development (USAID); Mr. Ralph Z. Delmont, Director of Agriculture; and Mr. Frank R. Ashley, Field Director of Labor. A prisoner exchange occurred at the established buffer or free fire zone (FFZ) along the north-south Pineland border. General Hammerhault, Commander of the UPA 1st Marine Expeditionary Force (MEF) met with delegates of the International Red Cross workers to transfer 412 dead, 149 wounded, and 172 captured ROP citizens to General Robert Lynn, Commander of the US 2nd MEF.

OSINT: IIR 25-1J7-76-021 ABC11-WTVD Raleigh News 9, Durham, PRP “Massive Work Stoppage slows economy in former NPP, more violence reported” (W+019)

AP – Durham Park, Durham, PRP – Ten thousand protesters took to the Durham Park in support of the ROP and to voice opposition to the NPP secession. Another group of at least three thousand Minority and Agrarian Reform Movement (MARM) supporters appeared a few hours later, some armed with various types of weapons, shouting, “long live the LPP and Paton and down with the ROP.” Immediately following the appearance of the MARM, a suspected sniper shot a number of Raleigh Police officers from the second precinct. The sniper was aiming from a rooftop in the vicinity of the park. Several police officers were killed and many more wounded. In the ensuing panic, several undisciplined police officers responded with a large volume of fire, shooting unarmed demonstrators and causing physical destruction. The Raleigh Police later called for reinforcements from a nearby UPA unit. On the arrival of the UPA forces, all the demonstrators departed. Many innocent demonstrators were injured in the chaos, and two city blocks were destroyed by fire.

“GRA insurgents attack Piedmont Territory Governor” (SIGACT ROP-S043-SOPI-W+23)

(AP) Downtown, Fayetteville, PRP – GRA insurgents attacked the motorcade of the newly appointed Piedmont Territory Governor with improvised incendiary devices (IIDs). The GRA conducted the attack in plain view of many citizens that were gathered to show support for the LPP. The vehicle caught fire and the Governor was quickly evacuated by his personal security detail to an undisclosed location. The Fayetteville Police and the UPA military cordoned the area after the attack, but were unable to capture any of the assailants.

OSINT: IIR 25-17-76-UJK1 ABN News “Multiple violent confrontations erupt between UPA forces and suspected ROP militant resistance forces.” (W+021)

(ABN News) Fayetteville, PRP. General Nicholas Christian, Commander, 3rd ISC reported that countless engagements occurred with disorganized criminals associated with the previous ROP regime. The new Commander of the 3rd ISC stated that all these acts are considered terrorist in nature and the culpable will be brought to justice.

(SIGACT ROP-S044-MACK-W+022), Reported by PRP Bureau of Investigations (BOI), Director, 2259 hours. An unknown company-size pro-ROP military unit ambushed a truck convoy transporting a company from the UPA 28th Airborne Task Force on International Province Highway 15, south of Camp Mackall near Juniper Creek. The ambush was compromised due to poor light discipline, triggering the lead vehicles to speed through the ambush site. The remainder of the convoy stopped short of the kill zone. The UPA convoy, supported by an air escort, later intercepted the unknown company-size pro-ROP military unit with its attack helicopters.

(SIGACT ROP-S045-MACK-W+023), Reported by PRP BOI, Director, 1259 hours. A UPA quick reaction force (QRF) attacked suspected 252nd guerrilla positions with mortars and attack helicopters. The engagement of the suspected enemy positions lasted about twenty-five minutes, and encountered light resistance from the guerrilla forces. Overall, fourteen guerillas were killed and twenty-nine wounded. Five of the wounded were captured. 14 X KIA, 29 X WIA.

(SIGACT ROP-S045-DUR-W+024), Reported by ROP Bureau of Investigations (RBI), Columbia, SPP, 0924 hours. PRP Police facilities in Raleigh were attacked by snipers attempting to harass the police force. Snipers fired at the internal security forces guarding the facilities, and several police officers were killed and wounded. 3 X KIA, 7 X WIA.

the 430th Guerrilla band lost a third of its combat force as a result of the UPA counter attack on (W-021) and will discontinue operations until further notice.

(U) OSINT: IIR 25-220-79-JJ8Y WECT TV6 WILMINGTON, PRP (W+019) – “Riots and angry mob cause havoc in Downtown Wilmington once again.”

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE --

PRP Log (Press Release) – (W+019) - Commercial waterfront shop owners are growing increasingly concerned with the possibility that rioters will vandalize businesses to earn cash from the sale of stolen products. Stress has not only been linked directly to the ‘looted’ businesses but also to companies that have not even seen the rioters. Unfortunately the riots meant that many buses had to restrict access to certain neighborhoods. As a result, sales and marketing companies, such as Pineland Unik Corporation had to change their strategies in order to ensure they achieved results for their clients regardless of the chaos caused by the rioters. Kinnel Yatel, of Pineland Unik Corporation said, “We have had to think on our feet as original plans were changed due to obvious difficulties with travel, etc. Fortunately we are very flexible and have large amounts of territory in and around the PRP.” Many of the streets and surrounding areas were deserted during the riots as the public became frightened of leaving their houses as they were deterred by violence seen on the news.

Angered Pineland Unik Corporation employee, Timma Klarkson, said, “The actions of the thugs have caused the company to fall behind in sales. Luckily this has been a short term and temporary measure, and sales are already booming again!” This frustration was felt across the company as Hara Khazi said, “I cannot believe how out of hand everything has gotten. It has affected us even though our Fayetteville office didn’t even see rioters.” The UPA Marine spokesperson reported that during the riots in Wilmington, there were also a string of events that erupted in the waterfront area, to include sniper fire on police, burning of buildings and churches, and the use of leaflets and graffiti depicting anti-LPP and anti-UPA literature. The Territorial Governor declared martial law in Wilmington on (W+018), as the police searched the area for the persons involved in the incident, as well as the leaders and members of the CP and PPP. The riots and aftermath have been complete chaos for more than just the petrified onlookers in the PRP.

4) (Exercise Classified) OTHER (UPA):

The UPA military leadership this week performed a number of high level exchanges with counterparts in Iran. The Iranian Republic hosted a three-day exercise in Teheran and the southern port of Bushehr. The exchanges were designed to promote better cooperation and increase the number of exchanges between the two countries.

Tactical Report (TACREP)/GHT-H089-6887 (Exercise HUMINT Classified) National Security Agency, (W+018). Additional information surfaced that provides further detail to Nicholas Christian’s background. In November 1984, he arrived at the age of 15 with his mother Arishna Chrsiakiv to Raleigh, ROP with the adopted name Nicholas Christian. The Russian Consulate in the UPA forged birth certificates, identification cards, and all other necessary documents. Additionally, consular officers helped arrange employment at the Russian embassy for his mother under a new identity of “Angela.” Angela Chrstiakiv worked directly for the Ministry of Foreign Political Relations and as a liaison between the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics (USSR) and ROP. Angela consequently increased her influence in international negotiations, and successfully influenced many foreign policy decisions. The end of the Cold War in 1989 and the subsequent collapse of the USSR in 1990 created significant upheaval for the KGB, GRU, and other former USSR agencies. Angela Chrstiakiv, now firmly seated in the ROP government system, paved the way for a young Nicholas to follow. Still an active agent in the KGB, she maintained close ties to her former Soviet handlers. In the early 2000s, Angela developed a close friendship with a rising individual in NPP political scene, David Paton. Angela successfully persuaded her friend to open dialogue and influenced Paton to engage UPA in a closer fashion. After 2008, Angela returned once again to the UPA where she reestablished her ties with the KGB and continued work with the cover of a consulate officer for both the Russians and the Iranians. Prior to the secession, Angela worked as the primary liaison to the UPA where she began helping to set the stage for Paton’s break from the ROP and the establishment of the People’s Republic of Pineland. It is recognized that for Angela’s dedication and service, President Paton appointed her son, Nicholas, as the new Commander of the 3rd ISC.

//UNCLASSIFIED// (INTSUM 25 W+015 to W+021)

//UNCLASSIFIED// (INTSUM 25 W+015 to W+021)

5) (U) OTHER (ROP):

The US 2nd MEF continues to prepare defensive positions along the eastern sector of the north-south Pineland border also known as the “Buffer Zone” or “Free Fire Zone.” Meanwhile, the ROP 2nd AD finalized its temporary defensive positions along the western sector of the SPP. The government of President Canteth is still under a significant amount of pressure since only the US has responded to the call for assistance in dealing with the breakaway province. There is a growing network of local groups organizing in the ROP to demonstrate against the PRP. Some of these movements are associated with the CP and the PPP. These political opposition groups are organizing to support the resistance in the former NPP, and are attempting to garner attention in the ROP by holding rallies, Internet chats and maintaining twitter feeds. The well known non violent civil leader, reverend Jake Shaw-Roberts, is leading an organization called The Peaceful Return (PR), based in Charleston, SPP, but also maintains ties to other political opposition groups in the former NPP. One of the most active political opposition groups is actually a consortium of smaller organizations known as the Pineland Freedom Coordination Committees (PFCC). The PFCC uses the Internet as its main organizing venue and is constantly trying to voice a loud opposition to the new regime of Governor Paton.

//UNCLASSIFIED// (INTSUM 25 W+015 to W+021)

Analyst notes: The political opposition groups – are non-violent, organized dissidents that seek to influence conditions in the former NPP and a return to the status quo. They are beginning to play an important role in relation to the media and are trying to appeal to the international media and the ROP expatriate base outside of the PRP and the SPP. The revolutionary narrative they’ve helped shape supports a return to the ROP rule of the Conservative Party.

As of (W+021), the ROP resistance movements are showing signs of organization, but have also lost a significant number of fighters in pitched battles with PRP and UPA security forces. Some demonstrations are also erupting in the ROP. In Charleston, SPP, students at the local universities held anti-LPP demonstrations while other groups protested the ROP and the US war machine. Several students were arrested for violent acts, but overall, the demonstrations ended peacefully. In one significant incident that occurred overnight on (W+021), a string of explosions rocked the ROP Naval Terminal in Charleston, SPP. The blast destroyed one of two loading docks where the US 10th Mountain Division was offloading vehicles. Three other explosions damaged three-flatbed train cars loaded with Mine-Resistant Ambush Protected (MRAP) vehicles. The bombing incident is causing a significant delay in the US 10th Mountain Division's vehicle and critical combat equipment offload. After offloading, the US 10th Mountain Division will travel by rail to the western sector of the north-south Pineland “Buffer Zone” to relieve the ROP 2nd Brigade.

The ROP congress approved a new defense budget that authorizes a ROP military buildup to defend against foreign and domestic threats. Under the provisions of the budget, three new corps will be established and fall under command and control of the Combined Joint Task Force-30 (CJTF-30). The three new Corps will be established on (W+099), and their subordinate commands and planned Areas of Responsibility are:

I Corps Area of Responsibility (AOR) is the Coastal Territory in Andrews, SPP: 1st MEF (Conway, SPP); 11th Marine Amphibious Division (Georgetown, SPP); and the 5th Marine Division (Stuckey-Hemingway, SPP).

II Corps AOR is the Piedmont Territory at Shaw Air Force Base, SPP: 12th AD (Florence, SPP); 1st Air Assault Division (Pine Ridge, SPP); 21st MID (Kershaw, SPP); and the 371st Separate Airborne Brigade (Shaw Air Force Base, SPP).

//UNCLASSIFIED// (INTSUM 25 W+015 to W+021)

//UNCLASSIFIED// (INTSUM 25 W+015 to W+021)

III Corps AOR is the Mountain Territory in Laurens, SPP: 73rd AD (Chester, SPP); 52nd Air Assault Division (Conestee, SPP); 77th MID (Liberty, SPP); and the 70th Separate Airborne Brigade (Laurens, SPP).

(SIGACT ROP-S060-CHAS-W+021), A complex IED attack targeted the US 10th Mountain Division during offloading operation at the Charleston Port Facility. A number of command and timed IEDs containing between 5 to 10 pounds of suspected homemade explosives (HME) detonated at 4 minute intervals in the early hours, on Pier #12, under parked MRAP vehicles. All the devices were affixed to the under carriage of the vehicles with makeshift magnets most likely harvested from computer hard-drives. ROP BOI is conducting a thorough post blast forensic analysis. 0 X KIA and 0 X WIA.

(SIGACT ROP-S062-CHAS-W+021), On (W+021), the 252nd Guerrilla band attacked railroad tracks with multiple improvised explosive shape charges. They effectively destroyed a number of railroad tracks and crossovers. The attacks occurred Southwest of Leland in the vicinity of N34 14'11" 0781'11"W in the former NPP. No casualties were reported. 0 X KIA and 0 X WIA.

The US 2nd MEF continues its deployment along the north-south Pineland border, now known as the "Buffer Zone."

C. ADDITIONAL REPORTING (SIGNIFICANT THREATS)

Air. Nothing Significant to Report

Paramilitary/Irregular/Other.

Remaining pro-ROP military units and supporters have organized into numerous guerrilla bands. Each of these loose configurations of individuals is led by a self-appointed or group-elected leader. The guerilla leaders usually have military experience or own a significant track of land and are good leaders. The guerillas live in remote areas of the former NPP and subsist off a growing network of auxiliaries, operating in a constantly expanding underground organization. The ideology of each Guerilla unit normally typifies the leader and ranges greatly. Some fighters are joining the resistance because of abuse suffered at the hands of the "invading" UPA, while others just desire a return to the ROP and the status quo. It is difficult to assess if the guerillas share a single common desire to return to the ROP. Most guerilla resisters are operating under great difficulty due to the increasingly effective security forces operating in the PRP. Additionally, some areas lack public acceptance of the resistance and consequently, access to supplies and transportation from potential auxiliaries are limited. Another segment of the population is simply uncommitted and does not support either side. One exception is however, found in the areas that encompass the old 2nd Congressional District (CD). Under the new PRP administration, the 2nd CD encompasses the southern areas of the previous 4th CD and 1st CD of the former NPP. A majority of the population in this area supports the ROP and a return to the status quo.

ROP civilian resistance counter-intelligence is operating in several large population centers within the Piedmont Territory in the PRP. Also, these areas have a significant number of supporters of the GRA and OIEPHEG.

The Conservative Party Underground (CPU) East and West continues to develop websites to help incite the splintered Guerilla groups operating in the former NPP. The Conservative Protestant Party Underground – East (COPPUE) even began issuing a statement regarding the 120th guerrilla band's mortar attacks on the UPA 2nd Marine Expeditionary Regiment headquarters located south of Old Dock, PRP.

Analyst Notes: UPA counter-guerrilla forces are establishing QRFs at several key locations to respond to the increasing number of attacks against PRP and UPA security forces.

The assimilation of existing civilian law enforcement authorities into the 3rd ISC continues and criminal resistance and intelligence (CRI) teams, and the wildlife, fish and forest (WFF) teams are beginning to conduct individual patrols in small assigned areas. In rural areas and communities, resistance leaders and cells are targeted by the WFF human intelligence. The UPA military had intended to maintain a very low visibility role in counter-insurgency (COIN) operations; however, due to the rising number of attacks, the PRP government is considering a merger to include many frontline UPA soldiers as primary forces leading COIN operations.

D. CIVIL CONSIDERATIONS AND IMPACTS

//UNCLASSIFIED// (INTSUM 25 W+015 to W+021)

//UNCLASSIFIED// (INTSUM 25 W+015 to W+021)

In addition to the violence, the former NPP is suffering from a significant economic downturn. Although economic indicators do not place them in the bottom rung of underdeveloped countries, the PRP faces economic challenges and is struggling to meet the economic needs of its citizens. Poor economic performance, coupled with rising food prices, is thought to have played a role in the minorities' and sharecroppers' revolts. The PRP economic development is mid-range in Atlantica, with Actual Consumer Expenditure per Household (ACEH) score of 62.5. The PRP Gross Domestic Product (GDP) Purchasing Power Parity (PPP) is $75.4 billion, which supports a lackluster per capita PPP of $7,500. Unemployment stands at 10.4%, and the PRP has struggled with its GDP growth rate, currently at 5.1%. The PRP economy has suffered recently as its tourism industry faltered, foreign investments plummeted, and its foreign exchange reserves were exhausted because of the continuing political crisis. The infrastructure is still largely in place, and most civilians have access to roads and other modes of transportation. The PRC measures however have limited the free flowing trade and movement between counties and the traditional industrial areas. Many of the mass transit systems are operating at less than 100% capacity due to lack of a dedicated labor force.

Analyst Notes: The PRP has a very well developed infrastructure that under normal circumstances would provide a significant boost to the economic development in the region. The PRP boasts modern railroads, airports and maritime facilities that accommodate transportation needs of a modern society. In addition, the PRP has a sophisticated mass transit system that serves most of the communities even in some of the rural areas. The World Bank reports that PRP normally provides more than 99% of its population with access to electricity, although currently, the figure is much lower with reports of 6 to 18 hour blackouts in some urban areas. World Bank statistics show that PRP provides nearly 100% of its population in urban areas with access to sanitation facilities. Most of the sewage in rural areas is sent to cesspits, septic tanks, or released untreated into the rivers.

(C) UPA MILITARY UNITS ASSISTING PRP REGIME (95% STRENGTH)

UPA 15th Corps began to train select units of the 3rd ISC and helped establish a paramilitary unit organic to the 3rd ISC called the “Civil Organization Resistance Development System” (CORDS). This paramilitary unit or CORDS consists of 1,500 men and women and is capable of training local police forces and organizing a command and control element into an operational paramilitary force. The CORDS personnel are training recruits for the CRI and WFF teams, and the specially trained counter-guerrilla forces to combat the resistance in urban and rural areas. The UPA 28th Airborne Task Force has been selected to lead and host all the CORDS training and to develop a cadre capable of counter-guerrilla operations throughout the former NPP.

a. Ground- The 3rd ISC and select UPA forces are actively patrolling known ROP loyalist neighborhoods in the major population centers of the former NPP. Many ROP loyalists and suspected underground resistance members have been arrested. The UPA 10th Mountain task force finalized defensive positions along the north-south Pineland border from Jackson County to the east of Gaston County. The 29th MID positioned subordinate units along the north-south Pineland border from Mecklenburg County to Anson County. One supply convoy ambushed by the pro-ROP guerrillas suffered a significant number of casualties before the arrival of the reactionary force. The 1st MEF, the pro-LPP coast guard and the Marine Special Air Land Sea Response Team (MSALSRT) have secured the entire coastline of the former NPP.

b. Air- UPA air force and the pro-LPP air force established routine patrols and are skirting the ROP controlled border area to avoid provoking a ROP or a US response.

c. Airborne- The 28th Airborne Task Force secured the border from Richmond County to Robeson County.

d. Paramilitary/irregular- The 3rd internal security corps and select UPA military units, along with assistance from local civilians, searched for key CP and PPP members' residences with some success; however, many remain in hiding.

(D) PRP 3rd INTERNAL SECURITY CORPS (UNKNOWN STRENGTH)

The 3rd ISC CRI teams employed an aggressive campaign directed at suspected members of the pro-ROP population mass support base. Their goal is to identify and eradicate opposition to the new PRP, and to demonstrate that the LPP government is protecting the PRP citizens. Martial law was also enacted to "protect the law abiding citizens of the PRP from thugs and criminals attempting to undermine the new government's political, economic, military, and socioeconomic changes."

Updated in separate reporting.

K. OVERALL ESTIMATE

UPA continues providing military and economic assistance to the PRP government, as such, the LPP government is becoming more dependent on the UPA. President Paton allowed 2,800 US citizens and another 16,000 other foreigners to depart the PRP with the assistance of the International Red Cross. All persons were taken to the designated transfer checkpoint on the north-south Pineland border on international highway 95 and turned over to the ROP authorities. The US coordinated the transfer through a small consulate it continues to operate in Fayetteville, PRP. This small US interest section is a much reduced version of the original Consulate and is helping to coordinate all issues related to US Citizens in the former NPP.

The ROP is still engaging the international community. At this point in the conflict the United Nations Security Council is unwilling to commit troops. Russia, Iran, France, Germany, Cuba, Venezuela, and China have strongly opposed any military action. The US announced continued deployment of forces into the ROP, but publicly has not opposed the UPA's intrusion in the former NPP. President Canteth is also working hard to establish contact with pro-ROP military guerrilla bands. Privately, President Canteth stated that he would support any organization that opposes the LPP and the UPA occupation of the former NPP with the exception of the GRA.

President Paton and the LPP government are using multiple national television forums to assure citizens that the transition to a democratic system will occur.
